

ADVANCING MARINE CONSERVATION IN THE EUROPEAN AND CONTIGUOUS SEAS

MARCONS WORKSHOP
9-10 April 2019, Rome, Italy

WG2 workshop on Using NEAT to test MPAs GES
Organized by Simonetta Frascchetti

Place: Consorzio InterUniversitario per le Scienze del Mare (<http://www.conisma.it/en/>)

NEAT is a Nested Environmental Status Assessment Tool (<http://www.devotes-project.eu/neat/>). It has been developed within DEVOTES: a validated tool for the integrated, consistent and comparative assessment of biodiversity status and GES across regional seas and the uncertainties related to this assessment.

In Naples WS 2017, Maria C. Uyarra presented the tool. We will organize In Rome (9-10 April) a dedicated workshop with the idea of testing the performance of NEAT at the European scale as a tool to assess the GES under the Marine Strategy Framework Directive (MSFD) using personal data sets taken within and outside MPAs along a gradient of socio-economical and ecological conditions. The focus will be on Descriptor D1 (biodiversity) and D3 (commercial fish) but also other indicators can be included according to data availability.
